VOL. 8. M'KINNEY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JULY 16, 1891. NO. 23.

Takes 1000 people to buy Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, at 50 cents a bottle, to make up $500.

One failure to cure would take the profit from 4000 sales.

Its makers profess to cure "cold in the head," and even chronic catarrh, and if they fail they pay $500 for their over-confidence,—

Not in newspaper words but in hard cash! Think of what confidence it takes to put that in the papers—and mean it.

Its makers believe in the Remedy. Isn't it worth a trial? Isn't any trial preferable to catarrh?

After all, the mild agencies are the best. Perhaps they work more slowly, but they work surely. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are an active agency but quiet and mild. They're sugar-coated, easy to take, never shock nor derange the system and half their power is in the mild way in which their work is done. Smallest, cheapest, easiest to take. One a dose. Twenty-five cents a vial. Of all druggists.

Gog and Magog.

By W. T. Winn.

There is a commotion in the partisan political camp; something has been precipitated with a sub acute thud. Dinna ye hear it? Gog and magog, root hog or die, is the in hoc signo of the hour. Oh, they've got it bad—broke out all over them in spots as big as a farm mortgage, or the President's salary! No use to give teas to keep it out, it's out to stay; out for a time and a half time and longer. The Memphis Appeal-Avalanch is the very, very latest victim. It pooh-poohed at the idea of a quarantine, declaring that the disease is not catching. To prove its faith by its words, it rushed headlong into the infected district. Listen to its "wail of toe" as it lies on its back (oh, yes; the decubitus is dorsal) upon the regulation cot in the Alliance hospital: "There is one thing we must all admit, the leaders of the Alliance in the States and the nation are the shrewdest of politicians. They have learned the lessons that defeat brought to the grangers of ten years ago. They are proceeding with a very definite object in view. They are willing to make any kind of combination in order to succeed. They are proof against ridicule. They are not to be deterred by abuse; they have a plausible argument to make and they are determined to make it. Their campaign methods are novel and iconoclastic, but they have no apologies to offer. Their propositions may be radical and extreme, but they are as quick to concede as they are to demand, when principles are not at stake and when they can gain a silent friend instead of an open enemy. They are not to be underrated, for they are as clever at the game of politics as they are sincere in their belief that the subtreasury will prove the salvation of the farmer. They can be met successfully only by argument that appeals to the common sense of the farmer, and the day for argument is rapidly passing. Satire will not do. Denunciation will not do. Epitheths like 'hayseed' and 'pumpkin politicians' will not do. There must be appeal to reason."

Judge for yourself whether this patient has not got it bad. Let the Alliance now set apart a day of fasting and prayer for the early recovery of this the latest addition to the hospital. Soon, then, we may hear it chanting the praises of the Alliance goddess of reform, and not a sigh for the fleshpots of political Egypt. Speaking of the Alliance goddess of reform, reminds me that I wish to inquire if she isn't a daisy. What grace of form and feature! What soulful tenderness beams out of her eyes, which outshine the glorious stars of the morning! Her voice! Oh, grander, yet softer and sweeter than the music of Æolian harps are the sounds that come from her heaven-favored lips. She is the goddess of love, and justice and right. Off with your hats, Alliance men, you of the blue and of the gray, and send up such a shout in her honor, and the apostles of hate, and greed, and oppression may be silenced forever. Now, as you remember the bitter fight, the fearful struggle of the last few years; as you think of the bloodless battles crowned with the victories of peace—of St. Louis, of Ocala, of the peerless Macune, of sockless Simpson, of the rebel Polk in the embrace of the one-armed Union soldier of Kansas—let us have not only one cheer, but three of them and a tiger, for our matchless goddess of reform.

Plano, Tex., July 3.—A large barn containing a lot of feed stuff, on C. M. Price's farm, one mile east of town, burned this morning, caused by a coal oil lantern explosion. Mr. Price was feeding his stock in the barn at the time. Loss between $600 and $700, insurace $400.

Among Our Exchanges.

Any government that can make a good bond can make a better dollar.—Pointers, Greenfield, Mo.

A good way to ascertain whether a movement is right or wrong is to find out who its enemies are.—Acorn Marshall, Ill.

McKinley as the republican nominee for governor of Ohio, makes the path of the new People's party in that state much smoother than it might have been.—Western Advocate.

The one plutocratic wing furnishes what it knows will be construed as a great grievance by the other wing for both of them to make political capital out of.—J. C. Tribune.

The republicans in Kansas are not afraid of the People's party, but they think it better that a vacancy in the supreme court should not appear too early in the season.—Nonconformist.

No man has the right to invade the peace or prosperity of innocence and weakness by mental power any more than he has the right to do so by physical force.—Investigator, Atlantic, Ia.

Some of the smart ones claim that money cannot be legislated into the pockets of the people. It may be so, but that it is legislated out of their pockets is true beyond a doubt.—Pawnee Independent.

Never in the history of any organization has there been a more concentrated co-operation among politicians to down an enemy, than the organized effort they are making at present to disrupt the Alliance.—Mirror, Selma, Ala.

The opposition to the new party by the old is simply that they are opposed to progress. They are like the weeping criminal, who on being assured that nothing but justice would be done, said: "That is what is grieving me so."—American, Harlan, Ia.

People who stop to think are the record breakers in this age. The people of Kansas started into the business and it is spreading over the country at a breakneck rate and by '92 look out for something to drop with a mighty thud.—Phillipsburg Democrat.

Old Shylock, who cares nothing for anything but the immortal dollar, is shaking his fist in the face of the people. His only salvation is in the people that either the Republican or the Democrat party will win—he doesn t care which.—Journal, Anderson, Ind.

Not Consistent.

All over the land the cry goes up from the money kings and their tools the politicians that the sub treasury plan is unconstitutional, and is class legislation, and the party press takes up the cry and reiterates it from one end of the country to the other. The wonder is that some farmers will listen to this delusive cry of the plutocrats and reiterate their statements, about "unconstitutionality," "class legislation," and all such mouthings from a class that is and always has been opposed to anything that will benefit the laborer.

Did some one say that the farmers do not know what they want? Look at the nine million mortgages on the home of the people, that is a sufficient answer.

The Public be D—d.

It is said that Vanderbilt once exclaimed, "The public be d—d," but the public won't be d—d. Public opinion is a mighty river, and sometimes overflows its banks and sweeps everything before it.—Extract from Bill Arp.

Sometimes it is dammed for awhile—then the obstruction heaps a mighty force that comes pushing, rushing, crowding and breaks the dam, and the country is appalled at the destruction that follows in the wake of the overflow, whether it be of opinions or rivers. The people have been dammed and and d—d and they stood still and waited for the obstruction to be removed and the curse taken away.

To-day the force has gathered in bulk and strength. The burdens of high taxes and low wages have added to the weight. The desperation of starving mothers, of suffering children, of despairing fathers is gathering its forces, and is pushing down and sweeping away the gigantic monopolies and golden images that have been set up against the people's opinions.

Five million farmers are standing in line. One and one half million tradesmen and railway men and one half million K. of L, all animated by common fears and common hopes, are swelling the tide and destruction must surely come in some respects.

The tide will overflow, for the obstruction has been so great and so long continued.

Yes it has been dammed and d—d, but it has broken loose, and destruction has come upon some who have stood in the way and helped to make the obstruction. Are you in the way? Ask yourself if you have added to this torrent?—Vindicator.

Senator Coke's Idea.

Is to issue legal tender greenback having "behind stored in the vaults of the treasury gold and silver enough to entrench it in confidence of the people." In other words he wants Uncle Sam to rattle the silver and gold in his pockets every time he talks about his promise to for fear least the people lose confidence in his ability to pay. A greenqack dollar issued by this government is based upon every dollar's worth of gold, silver, land and every species of property owned by her citizens. What the people have belongs, under our system, to the government, because the government rightly considered, is the people acting by their representatives. — Jocksbora Sentinal.

These are Plain Facts.

If the government can make a good bond, it can make a good dollar.

If the government can loan money to banks and worlds fairs, it can loan it to the people.

If it is right to loan it to a corporation, it is right to loan it to individuals, if they furnish good security.

If bonds are good security, land is good or better.

If a government has to issue bonds to borrow money on, how can it ever expect to pay off the debt in money.

If the government can make money and is the only power that can make money, why does it issue interest bearing bonds to get money back from the people, if it is not to fill the pockets of a favored few.

They are Unjust.

Some of the party papers are abusing Mr. Ingalls very bitterly on account of the letter he wrote recently to the republican editors of Kansas. This course is unfair and unjust and we are called upon to remind them of the resolution passed by the republican state conventions of 1888 indorsing all Ingalls had ever said or done, or all that he might say or do in the future. Would it be presuming too much to say that Ingalls had in mind this resolution when he made his memorable speech in the Senate last winter? After agreeing to stand by him the republican party cowardly deserted him Their condemnation has followed swiftly.

Don't forget the DEMOCRAT.

This is the Reason Why.

"A host of honest farmers,
With earnest hearts and true—
We've utterly determined,
To put this movement through;
We're down on all monopolies,
That all our rights defy,
And crush them out we shall and must,
And this is the reason why:

They've rings in selling school books;
In telegraphic news;
In reapers and in planters
And in everything we use;
Freights, fares and freight commissions
Are ever lasting high
But farmers work must pay the tax,
And this is the reason why.

The bulls are selling all we buy,
The bears buy all we sell;
For hordes of middle men must eat,
And counter-hoppers swell,
And we must pay for palace cars,
The champagne and old rye,
That cheers the hearts of railway lords
And this is the reason why.

A million honest farmers
Are on their march to-day;
Beware, O, sal'ry grabbers!
Of back and forward pay;
A million honest farmers say,
What you cannot deny,
The country's run in rings of steel,
And this is the reason why."

The Use Of

Harsh, drastic purgatives to relieve costiveness is a dangerous practice, and more liable to fasten the disease on the patient than to cure it. What is needed is a medicine that, in effectually opening the bowels, corrects the costive habit and establishes a natural daily action. Such an aperient is found in which, while thorough in action, strengthen as well as stimulate the bowels and excretory organs.

"For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take Ayer's Pills, and soon the bowels became regular and natural in their movements. I am now in excellent health." —Wm. H. DeLaucett, Dorset, Ont.

"When I feel the need of a cathartic, I take Ayer's Pills, and find them to be more than any other pill I ever took."—Mrs. D. C. Grubb, Burwellville, Va.

"For years I have been subject to constipation and nervous headaches, caused by derangement of the liver. After taking various remedies, I have become convinced that Ayer's Pills are the best. They have never failed to relieve my bilious attacks in a short time; and I am sure my system retains its tone longer after the use of these Pills, than has been the case with any other medicine I have tried."—H. The manifesto singers are trying to work up a meeting at Ft. Worth, of the elements in the Alliance that oppose the sub-treasury and such others as can be entrapped into leading the encouragement of their presence to the meeting, and the party press in pursuance of their plan to "make the fight in the Alliance" and so split and destroy the order, are busily drumming for the meeting. There is a sort of grim humor obout the thing when we reflect that those members of the Alliance are working with her worst enemies in this matter while professing the greatest love for the order.—Jacksbora Sentinal.

21—22—23—24—25—Come.

The enemies of the Alliance will receive their reward, as sure as they are enemies.

This is no time for dissention among Alliance men. Unity of action should characterize every movement they make.

"In things essential unity," is one of the grand declarations of purposes of the Farmers' Alliance. Brother, heed it.

Never in the history of the world did the people seek to educate themselves upon governmental questions as they are to-day. All through the rural districts the farmers are reading and discussing the questions of the day. And they are learning—rapidly learning, and even today they know too much to suit monopoly and greed.

Hon. Tom Brown seems to have run out of "soap" after his first article in the series he is now publishing against the subtreasury, but like all other who have become alarmed for the safety of "party," he is stirring the lather to beat thunder. When he ceased to "slash" about the "details" of the subtreasury, the large bubbles he may create, will explode and [illegible] and the principles of the measure will be pushed forward to adoption.

Republicanism was good enough for our northern brothers so long as it benefitted them. But when they see it is a party of spoils to enrich the few and oppress the many, overboard goes republicanism.

Democracy was good enough for us southern people so long as democratic principles were carried out. But when democracy enters Wall street and allows New York political gamblers, with the aid of the "would be's" of the south, to gamble away the foundation of the party, then we say to such democrats: We are done with you; we will take our principles and vote them and show that you cannot and shall not lead us again.—Ex.

The Farmers' World is born. It comes forth with the glittering ensign of "Alliance" upon its escutcheon. What its mission is, the future will reveal. If it is to lead the farmers to victory and the accomplishment of their demands, it will be hailed with joy; but if its mission is to defeat our present leaders to the loss of our rights and expectancy, the cures of an earnest people will be showered upon it, and it will be relegated to the shades of an ignominious grave. The people are in "dead earnest," and they do not propose to be divided, disorganized, disrupted, to the delight of monopoly, and they will see to it that no destructive factor shall enter their precincts. This is one of the most earnest epochs in the history of the people, and there is an utter, complete over-powering determination to be united in the great movement begun. The farmers welcome literature, but not that kind of literature which causes division. The Alliance must not be divided: Its defeat will be sure and complete if such a state of affairs comes. O, people, let your battle cry be, "victory through unity."

Interest is Widening.

J. G. Williams,
Chairman com. arrangements.

Notice.

To the Alliance fraternity and all that are thinking of killing fresh meats to take to the encampment to be barbecued on the ground: In view of the act that the weather will be very warm it will almost be impossible to keep it from spoiling therefore, the committee request all that intend bringing such meats to distribute among yourselves and cook at home. Any meats cooked on the ground should be taken on foot. Sub Alliances that have ordered banners through me will be expected to make and furnish their own flag poles. Poles should not be shorter than eleven feet in length.

J. Y. BROOKS, Sec'ty.

ALLEN, TEX., June 30, 1891.

Editor Democrat.

There seems to be an erroenious impression out that there will be a barbecue dinner each day of the Alliance camp meeting. In order to correct such impression it should be stated that the intention is and has been to make the camp meeting self sustaining. Each family is expected to come provided with provisions and feed for stock and so far as transient visitors are concerned it is expected that ample provisions will be on the ground to provide for them.

J. T. MELTON,

Bishop Alliance Celebration.

The 4th of July, 1891, has come and gone, and has added to memory's pages pleasant incidents, which will oft be reverted to by many as silvered links in the chain of life's events. While hundreds of Collin county citizens flocked to Van Alstyne, there to join thousands of others in a grand celebration of the 4th, this writer shook off the desire to attend that occasion, and made his way to Bishop Alliance, there to commingle with the hospitable citizens of that community in a quiet Alliance celebration. The reader will pardon us for omiting a description of our trip and what we observed on the way, and we will endeavor to report the program of the day, which was creditably carried out to the enjoyment of all present.

Arriving on the grounds quite early we had plenty time to look around and was pleased to find a thick shady grove. We tied our horse to a sapling and strolled around the corner of the church to the entrance, where we met the smiling face of Bro. Allen, who gave us a hearty Alliance shake; next we confronted Bro. McElroy and clasped hands. We began to feel that we were among friends, and it was not long before this scribe had made many acquaintances, among whom were Bros. Todd, Shuman, Abe Enloe, Kendall, Monroe, Hardin, and others whose names we cannot now re call. When we entered the church, we found Bro. George Kendall busy completing the program for the day.

The time having arrived, a number of ladies and gentle men sang a beautiful song, after which Parson Lowry made the welcome address. While it was short it was to the point. He emphasized the "main thing" as he termed it; that is "dinner," and brought down the house, when he related about the Irishman, who was on board a vessel, when a terrific storm came up. The captain rushed into the room where the Irishman was calmly eating, and excitedly exclaimed: "Sir, did you know a hard storm was upon us?" "Oi can't help that; I'm 'tendin' to the main thing." "But sir, the vessel may go down and all of us perish!" "Can't help that; yer promised to take ma to Moigan and yer must stick to yer boigan."

Bro. Geo. Kendall next read the Declaration of Independence, and while that memorable paper was again being presented to the people we thought of those noble characters, who vouchsafed to us liberty; we thought of their heroic deeds and final victory, when a new nation was born—born unto liberty; we thought of to-day—the day of all days, and the question forced itself upon us. Are we enjoying that liberty which Washington, La Fayette Green, et al, committed to America's sons as the most sacred trust to preserve? Then came vividly before our vision the toiling millions, who are today groaning beneath the iron heel of mononopoly. Comparing, contrasting and reflecting upon the condition soon following the Independenc of America and that of today, the burning fact that liberty—"equal rights to all, and special privileges to none"—was fast becoming something only in name.

Bro. Allen then read an essay entitled, "Alliance School Boy." The paper gave a history of Bishop Alliance, showing its vicisitudes and joys, success and failures; the number affiliated with since its organization and the present membership, which is 75. The essay also contained some sound thoughts upon Alliance efforts, and words of encouragement to the members.

Mrs. Geo. Kendall was then introduced and read an essay, entitled Independence. It was presented in a clear and graceful manner and was pronounced the best effort of the occasion. One feature of the essay particularly attracted our attention and that was the earnest appeal to the young men to live nobly and help on the grand cause. We heard one gentleman remark that one act of a woman toward aiding in the noble work of the Alliance was more inspiring than that of half a dozen men.

After Mrs Kendall had so ably read the essay, the announcement was made that dinner—"ther main thing"—would now be attended to. The ladies immediately went to work "spreading the feast," and we hungry men stood and looked on, while the sight of chicken, ham, beef, salid, pies, cakes, custards, etc., ad infinitum, sharpened our appetites. This writer has often "got left" in life, but never, no never have we failed in "getting there, Eli," when toothsome dishes are laid before our delighted gaze. About this time Bro. Levy rolled up, and the tall and handsome form of friend Clarence Shuman appeared by our side. Bro. Lowry passed near us, and we heard him repeating, "Tend to ther main thing; yer promised to take me to Moigan, and yer must stick to yer boigan," and the next we saw of him, he was actively engaged in tending to ther "main thing" Bros. Kendall, Allen, McElroy and others were now busily engaged in seeing that all were helped to something to eat. Kind reader, no doubt but what you have attended similar occasions, and, therefore, we leave to your imagination the scene that followed for the next half hour After all had fully satisfied the inner man, the people congregated under the shade (the seats having been brought out of the house to where it was cooler) and the afternoon program began. Mr. Clarence Shuman led in singing an inspiring song. The first speaker was Bro. Enloe. When he stepped forward and began his address, he claimed to be a little embarrassed, but as he warmed up to his subject, embarrassment took wings and flew away. He discussed the condition of the country, and showed that if relief did come to the farmer, it must come through his own efforts, and felt that victory was sure, if the farmers stood unitedly together. He could not find words to express his contempt for the man, who would gain the confidence of the people by promises, and then when elected to office, go square back on his constituents. He spoke at some length and said many good things, which we would be glad to report, but space will not permit. Bro. Enloe is a whole-souled Alliance man, and the cause will not suffer for lack of zeal on his part. His address was purely extemporaneous, but showed that he is keeping pace with the movements of the Alliance workers and the maneuvers of our enemies.

Bro. Graham Albright was then introduced by Bro. Todd.

The program closed with a rendition of Napoleon Bonaparte, and the famous Darius Green's Flying Machine, the latter eliciting considerable laughter. These two pieces were read by Mr. Clarence Shuman. He exhibited considerable elocutionary ability and added much to the interest of Darius Green's Flying Machine by his gestures, which were well taken.

There was nothing to mar the day's pleasures and everybody left for home looking happy and pleased. We desire to close this report by saying that the people of Bishop Alliance and community are a warm-hearted people, hospitable and kind, and this writer will long remember the pleasant occasion of July 4th, 1891, spent among them.

Summer Normal.

Below we give names of the teachers in attendance together with their P. O. addresses and the number of years they have been teaching.

We have never seen a more, earnest, progressive lot of teachers than those now in attendance.

Judging from the spirited discussions we are lead to believe that they are here for business, and their labors will be of great value to the pupils, who may come under their instructions, and highly appreciated by the people in general.

WEDNESDAY

Prof. H. Goolsby, of Kaufman, assistant conductor of the Normal, directed an interesting class in fractions, during which Prof. R. W. Hudgins, of Allen, went to the board and gave the analysis of a problem, which was both interesting and instructive, after which the class was dismissed for a seven minute intermission to discuss the problems previously solved. After the class was again called to order the subject of grammar was taken up by Prof Goolsby, and numerous questions upon the subject were propounded and discussed and answered by various teachers. W. Hughston, of Plano, gave a definition and explanation of a compound sentence. Miss Joetta Slaughter, of Anna, demonstrated her ability as a grammarian in the discussion on that subject. M. D. Brown, of Plano, gave the analysis and diagram of a very difficult sentence from Shakespere.

There are many of the teachers present, who have performed special work of great value, the account of which we have been unable to obtain.

Normal Notes.

A. E. Faust is quite practical in his lectures on grading schools, school management, etc.

Dr. Spencer failed to secure a writting club, in connection with the normal. This is regretted by the community as the doctor is a master of pen work and no doubt would have done much good here.

J. E. Rodgers of the Texas School Journal, Dallas, was at the normal this week. He made an able and interesting talk on school work throughout the state.

T. A. Coleman handles U. S history in a practical way. Much good is being done from his mode of conducting history lessons

Miss Fanne Rodgers has already gained an enviable reputation as critic.

The Misses Slaughter, Mollie Work, Messrs. Hughston, Kemper and Wade, Mathematical team. How's that? Three each, see!

Miss Rodgers will have a common place name for the leading character of her book—something like Smith or Jones, at the same time she is keeping an eye on Brown.

Mr. Stevenson, has proven himself a progressive wide awake teacher.

I. A. Looney, one of the oldest teachers in the county is conducting the Geography both Political and Physical. This of course makes this department a success.

Miss Lizzie Duer, makes the positive declaration that the young gentlemen teachers are handsome.

Mr. Teel is the same courteous ladies' man that he was 40 years ago.

Mrs. Brown displays excellent skill and thorough knowledge in all of her work.

Mrs. Harris is one of those quiet teachers who teach thoroughness exemplifying by both precept dnd practice.

SCHOOL DISCIPLINE.

Paper read by Conductor E. M. Faust, of the McKinney Summer Normal, unanimously endorsed and requested by the Institute to be published.

This is a very broad term; too broad to be discussed in all of its bearings in any one treatment of the subject.

On hearing this word discipline we are apt immediately to form a conception of simply good deportment, good behavior, a refraining on the part of pupils from gross irregularities, such as fighting, swearing and the like. This is entirely too narrow a view, and we must embrace in the concept not merely a negative but a positive ideal. In short, good discipline may be defined as that management of a school which will secure good order throughout the school, a gentlemanly and ladylike deportment, respect for superiors, and promptness, punctuality and enthusiasm in their work on the part of pupils; and, along with good teaching will produce the rich fruition of good scholarship and a true, noble character.

There are two standpoints from which we can judge of the necessity of good discipline. The first is purely business standpoint. Every man of business has a right to adopt and maintain such rules for his business as will enable him to accomplish the most and best possible work in a given time, and with the least worry and vexation to himself, so long a she does not interfere with the reasonable rights of others. The teacher, as a business person, has this same right. But the true teacher will have, along with the above mentioned, also a higher motive for strict general discipline. As a conscientious person he (and I use the masculine pronoun as a general term, and not to exclude the gentler sex) will desire to do his duty to pupils, and see that they get the best possible return for their time, and this they can not do in the midst of babble and confusion.

Among many essentials of good discipline may be mentioned as certainly among the first, a fixed ideal, firmness, thorough self-possession, kindness. I do not pretend that these are all, or that they have been enumerated in the order of use or importance.

With a majority of pupils a knowledge of the teacher's fixed purpose, strong and earnest moral suasion, personal bearing, enthusiasm, and along with all, if not above all, a good example—these will be strong enough to regulate their general conduct. Note the emphasis, for occasional deviations should not brand the pupil as incorrigible. But law, in the more rigid sense, excluding the law of love and kindness is everywhere formulated for the purpose of reaching those whom milder means will not influence. These too, are of different degrees, as well as of different characteristics of obstinacy, varying in character by reason of circumstances, environment and a thousand influences. With many, a few vigorous punishments, following swift and sure on the heels of transgression, will keep the offender from any further infringements or delinquences. Teachers should make few threats, but should certainly carry out every one made, unless extreme circumstances render it impossible or inadvisable. Negligence, carelessness, forgetfulness on this line should be carefully guarded against for they will cost us dearly in the future. For those whose general conduct is good more leniency may be exercised in occasional infractions, and great care should also be taken when they occur under exciting circumstances.

I would not pass over this part of the subject, without referring to the potency of an occasional judicious use of the pardoning power.

An inveterate transgressor, once brought before the tribunal before which he had often appeared, was told by the court that a new means was to be used for his reformation. Expecting and dreading some new method of torture, he was astounded to hear his judge say: I have tried every other method with you; I am now going to forgive you. He was moved to tears, and afterward completely reformed.

Justice should always be tempered with mercy; and while no weak sentimentality should prevent our laying on hard the rod of conviction, yet a true and genuine sympathy with the trials of childhood will frequently soften a will that can not be broken by blows.

But, sad though it is, there are in almost all schools a few, who, from lack of proper parental control, or from viciousness of nature, are so utterly callous to kind treatment, so utterly indifferent to any self culture or improvement, that nothing but the iron hand of law and strong law will make any impression on their adamantine natures; and it is to reach these that requires the closest study and utmost care. To the credit of our race be it said their proportion is seldom large. My experience has been that from two to five per cent of the pupils of a school require more care and worry and attention to keep them in the line of duty than all the rest of the school. These tax our patience to utmost tension. There is room here for the play of all the feelings of our nature, even that of anger; for I am no disciple of the doctrine that a teacher ought never to get "mad." There are times when it would be extremely unnatural to do otherwise, provided we retain our self possession.

Even these pupils will naturally divide themselves into different classes. 1st. Those, who by constantly following them up with swift and sure punishment, for wrong doing, putting on extra duty for laziness, on the principle that we put an extra heavy load on a balky horse—by continuing unremittingly this kind of dogging, we may after awhile get into something like the line of duty. 2nd. Those whom no reasonable means will restrain; and these must be eliminated care fully from the body politic, as a contaminating element, too deleterious to the best interests of others to be allowed to remain among them. If an offense by one of this kind occurs in a way and at a time to demand it, he should be made a public example; if he keeps up a constant succession of petty offenses, any one of which is too trivial to warrant expulsion, he should be removed by making his birth so warm that he will voluntarily and permanently absent himself.

To handle this element of pupils we must have law, strong and vigorous. George Washington said he never learned to govern without law. That teachers should use their authority judiciously, sparingly, is no argument that they should not have the authority when it is needed.

From the exclusive and arbitrary authority, (at a time well known so students of the history of education,) accorded to teachers, and so frequently, alas! abused by them in great cruelty, when the adage "Tell no tales out of school" was prostituted by inhuman monsters to the secreting of their dastardly outrages on child humanity, from this perverted idea of school room discipline there has been a rebound to the almost equally baneful opposite extreme of unprecedented laxity, in expecting teachers to handle by moral suasion pupils who haven't the slightest conception of the first principles of morality, or any impulse toward mental improvement.

Why, a short time ago some one in one of our journals said that, with all the modern improvements and facilities in education there was not the necessity for great mental effort on the part of pupils. He has discovered, contrary to the opinions of the bards and solons of all ages, that there is a road to knowledge, that we can be wafted on flowery beds of ease, to the prizes we covet, forgetting the true service of aids and helps in school work, which is to reach higher and grander results with the same effort, and thus inspire to even greater effort and not to lessen those efforts, forgetting also that the grandest permanent benefit derived from mental effort is frequently the effort itself, whereby the mind is strengthened and filled for greater usefulness by a kind of mental athletics.

While in some sections teachers are admirably sustained and supported in school decipline, the country as a whole is behind on this line.

Great results are expected, and limited means allowed. Defined authority regulating special kinds of conduct enforcing regularity and punctuality in attendance, and cultivating a general respect for the school authorities is very much needed, and I think is coming in the near future. Teachers ought to cultivate public sentiments in this direction: for, after all we can go a little further than so far as an educated public sentiment will bear us up.

When, with all our effort it fails to sustain us, and the choice is left us of either sacrificing our essential prerogative self respect and individuality, or ship-wrecking in the Maelstrom of popular prejudice, I know not what course others may take, but as for me I shall rather direct my barque in a different course, or cast it on less tempestuous waters.

Supt., McKinney Schools.

RESOLUTION.

Resolved, that we the teachers indorse the paper read by Prof. A. E. Faust, on school discipline, before the Summer Normal and that we request its publication in the county papers.

Died.

At the residence of R L Parker, Miss Fannie Kirk, on Friday morning at 6:05 o'clock. The cause of her death was the removing of a tumor of the breast. Miss Kirk, was born in Huntsville, Ala., and moved to Texas, while quite young. She was a consistent christian, being a member of the Baptist church. She was loved by all who knew her for her noble quality of heart and soul Words cannot portray the suffering she passed through during her latter days, yet she bore all as only a heroine can.

In the zenith of life the cloud of death shadowed her earthly ambition and gentle hands, lovingly and tenderly bore her to the lowway side Inn and bid her "good night."

"Gone but not forgotten."

Is the epitaph left imprinted on the human heart and all hope to meet her on some brighter shore where the surging billows of care and sorrow will cease to beat against the human frame.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.
TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA.
Its advantages for practical instruction, and especially in the diseases of the South west, are unequaled, as the law secures it superabundant materials from the great Charity Hospital with its 709 beds, and 20,000 patients annually. Students have no hospital fees to pay and special instruction is daily given AT THE BEDSIDE OF THE SICK, as in no other institutution. Next college session begins October 19th, 1891. Pronounced Hopeless Yet saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd, of Groton, S D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my Lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time. I gav myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles; it has cured me and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman," Trial bottles free at E. N. McAulay & Bro., Drug store regular size, 50c and $1.00.

Encampment Supplies.

NEVADA, TEX., JUNE 16, '91.

To the Alliance fraternity of Collin county. Brothers the time is now drawing nigh for our great coming encampment. You should be mindful of the fact and send the money that your people donate just as soon as convenient to Bro. O. D. Winn, McKinney, Texas, as the committee will have to make some payments to get the encampment on a solid footing. Send the number of beef, sheep and the amount of bread to Bro. F. C. Thompson, McKinney Texas so as to get at something like the amount raised for the encampment. Brethren let me urge upon you to be prompt in this matter as the time is coming.

Fraternally,
J. Y. BROOKS, Sec'ty.

Lets reason together. Here's a firn one of the largest the country over, the world over; it has grown step by step, through the years to greatness and it sells patent medicines!—ugh!

"That's enough!"

Wait a little—

This firm pays the newspapers good money (expensive work, this advertising!) to tell the people that they have faith in what they sell, so much faith that if they can't benefit or cure you they don't want your money. Their guarantee is not indefinite and relative, but definite and absolute—if the medicine doesn't help, your money is "on call."

Supposse every sick man and every feeble woman tried these medicines and found them worthless, who would be the loser, you or they?

The medicines are Dr. Pierce "Golden Medical discovery," for blood diseases, and "Favorite Prescription," for woman's peculiar ills. If they help toward health, they cost $1.00 a bottle each! If they don't, they cost nothing!

Wylie, Collin county, Texas, July 6.—A telegram was received here this afternoon from Richardson, Tex., stating that a deaf and dumb man from Wylie was killed, at that place by the cars today. The man is certainly Sam Hurd, as he left there a few days ago, and he was the only deaf mute living in Wylie after the death of John Long by drowning last winter. Hurd was from Michigan, and has no relatives here.

We will issue a daily paper during the campmeeting beginning the publication on Monday the 20th inst. in order to print the proceedings each day and give the program one day ahead. We will charge 5c per copy and trust our readers will aid us all they can in the enterprise.

The Presbytery of the C. P. church will convene at Walnut Grove on the 15th inst.

In regards to the charge against Myers and Kendal of knowingly purchasing stolen cotton a few months ago, we are informed that the grand jury failed to return an indictment and the cotton has been consigned back to the purchasers. We make this explanation in justice to the defendents.

Answer this Question.

Why do so many people we see around us seem to prefer to suffer and be made miserable by indigestion, constipation, dizziness, loss of appetite, coming up of the food, yellow skin, when for 75 cents we will sell them Shiloh's Vitalizer, guaranteed to cure them.—Bristol Bros.

In the writing school recently closed by W. L. Yarbrough in this city, Miss Maggie Leddy won the first prize for best specimen, second prize Miss Lena Williams. For best improvement Herbert Leddy won 1st., prize, 2nd prize Miss May Worsham.

How to Succeed.

This is the the great problem of life which few satisfactorily solve. Some fail because of poor health, others want of luck, but the majority from deficient grit—want of nerve. They are nervous, irresolute, changeable, easily get the blues and "take the spirits down to keep the spirits up," thus wasting money; time, opportunity and nerve force. There is nothing like the Restorative Nervine, discovered by the great specialist, Dr. Miles, to cure all the nervous diseases, as headache, the blues, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, fits and hysteria. Trial bottles and fine book of testimonials free at Smith Bros. drug store.

Prof. J. E. Dooley, opened his school at Altoga, July 6th, 1891.

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the liver be inactive, you have a bilious look, if your stomach be disordered you have a dyspeptic look and and if your Kidneys be effected you have a pinched look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and Tonic acts directly on these vital organs. Cures Pimples Blotches, Boils and gives a good complexion. Sold at E. N. McAulay & Bro., Drug store, 50c. per bottle.

Wash Taylor has quit the printing business and entered the Ministerial field.

A Fatal Mistake.

Physicians make no more fatal mistake than when they inform patients that nervous heart troubles come from the stomach and are of little consequence. Dr. Franklin Miles, the noted Indiana specialist, has proven the contrary in his new book on "Heart Disease," which may be had free at Smith Bros. drug store, who guarantees and recommends Dr. Miles' unequaled New Heart Cure, which has the largest sale of any heart remedy in the world. It cures nervous and organic heart disease, short breath, fluttering, pain, or tenderness in the side, arm or shoulder, irregular pulse, fainting, smothering, dropsy, etc. His Restorative Nervine cures headache, fits, etc.

McKINNEY, Tex., July 6.—Kemp Doty and William Lewis engaged in a pistol racket Their aim was good but their shooting indifferent. The sheriff is arbiter, and both are in jail.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful cough medicine we have ever sold, a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of cough, croup and bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price, 10c., 50c., and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or lame back, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by Bristol Bros.

Summer Excursion Rates.

Alliance Picnic.

On the 4th of July, the 115th birthday of our Independence. About 9 o'clock a. m. our Alliance began gathering together to enjoy themselves. Bringing well filled baskets. It was not long before a good size crowd was on the ground After which Bro. Jas. Lowry made the welcome address. After which the Declaration of Independence was read and an essay by Mrs. Maggie Kendall. After which came the long hoped for part, dinner. It was a part well played by all.

At 10 o'clock we came togeth er again, and Bro. Enloe made us a good lecture.

Bro. Albright, of McKinney, taken up the issues of the day and made an eloquent speech, which was appreciated by all. Bro. Albright is a true Alliance man.

Bros. John Allen and Clarence Shuman were in front ranks with their literature, speeches and essays, were interspersed with music by the class. After we had enjoyed ourselves as much as we felt disposed we all went home feeling much better.

Our Campmeeting Special.

Arrangements are now being perfected to issue a very large edition of The DEMOCRAT on July 16th, for the great campmeeting. This issue is to be an eight paged paper, printed on extra quality and will contain between fifteen and twenty portraits of Collin county citizens, together with a large illustration of our courthouse, schoolhouses, business blocks, etc., besides twenty-five or thirty scenes throughout the country. The DEMOCRAT has gone to great expense to make this issue a success in every particular, and one everybody will be proud to send to their friends. Orders are coming in daily for extra copies and advertising space, and we feel sure our patrons appreciate our efforts. So, we would like for all requiring extra copies to send in their orders as soon as possible; that we may know how many to print.

Our prices are 5c per single copy, or in lots of 100 or more 3c. They will be mailed postpaid when names and addresses are furnished us.

Editor Democrat:

As my first letter found its way to the columns of your paper, I have decided to tax your patience with another attempt. Not however with the hope of relating anything of general interest, but merely give you a recital of society events that may perhaps interest some of your many readers in this section.

The young people of the community have organized a "Mite Society" they will contribute the proceeds of each meeting to the Sunday school. Their first meeting will be held on Wednesday night, at the residence of J. T. Bell. A noble endeavor to advance, and build up a grand cause. May success attend their effort.

The many friends of John Wallace, will be glad to learn that he is rapidly recovering from a severe and protracted illness,

Miss Linnie Martin, who has been sick for some time, we are glad to report is convalescing.

Miss Lillie Wilson, of McKinney, accompanied by John Bomar, one of New Hope's most popular young men attended Sunday school at the Grove last Sunday eve.

Mrs. Hobbins, who visited the families of W. A. Strauhgan and Jno. Wallace last week left for her home Sunday.

Lonnie Martin, has accepted a position in the Mercantile establishment of C. M. Largent, and has located for a time in Melissa.

W. A. Straughan and family visited relatives and friends in Verona, the latter part of last week, but returned in time to take part in the Sunday school Sunday eve.

The singing at the school house Sunday night was largely attended.

If the old adage, That "actions speak louder than words" be true we will hear the merry chime of wedding bells before many more moons have passed away.

Jim Martin, the "Prince of good fellows" attended the celebration at Van Alstyne on the 4th.

The melon-chol(y)ic days have come and with them the vender of "medicated nostrums," "favorite prescriptions," etc., to overcome the evils of an over indulgence of the appetite in the melon line.

For fear Mr. Editor if I continue that (with you) patience may cease to be a virtue. I will call a halt on this desultory and hastily writers epistles, which, after reading you will no doubt more hastily consign to the lowest depths of your waste basket. Should that be its fate I am consoled by the thought that "Thus passes the glory of the world."

Yours truly,
CAESAR.

The Fourth at Van Alstyne.

VAN ALSTYNE, Tex., July 5. —The "glorious fourth" was celebrated in Van A'styne with an exuberance of patriotic spirit. There were fully 10,000 people in attendande. The address of welcome was delivered by F. M. Adams of Van Alstyne, followed by the reading of the declaration of independence by Judge P. B. Muse of McKinney. Mr. McMeans then entertained the audience with a discourse on "The good of the Farmers' Alliance." In the afternoon Capt. T. J Brown and Harry Tracy discussed the sub treasury bill. Mr. Tracy being in favor of the bill and Capt Brown opposed to it. The participants left carrying with them, no doubt, memories of a day happily spent.
